GENERAL ALLEGATIONS

The November 2, 2018 Incident

12. On Friday, November 2, 2018, Kasula was conducting a math class just prior to the lunch period.

13. Dean was a student teacher in Kasula's classroom.

14. G.M. was a student<sup>1</sup> in Kasula's class.

15. While Kasula conducted the class, Dean, for no apparent reason, began repeatedly and sternly asking G.M. why, in Dean's opinion, he looked sad.

---

<sup>1</sup> G.M. has two older siblings (ages 15 and 16), who have been in the District their entire scholastic careers and are both "A" students.

16. G.M. stated he was fine and became increasingly confused and scared about the repeated and pointed questioning, especially since it was happening in the middle of class, by a person he hardly knew and seemingly out of nowhere.

17. For no valid reason, Dean asked G.M. to leave the classroom with her, but G.M. refused.

18. Without any cause, Dean then demanded that G.M. leave the classroom with her and she proceeded to remove G.M. from the classroom where she further interrogated him.

19. G.M. was frightened at this point, as it seemed to him that Dean was angry with him for some reason even though he hardly knew her.

20. Without provocation or foundation, Dean persistently questioned G.M. about his home life and if everything was okay at home.

21. At some point, Dean began asking G.M. inappropriate questions that appeared to gauge his religious and spiritual convictions and his level of patriotism towards the United States of America, ostensibly to determine if he, or his family, was a religious zealot or fanatic that was a threat to domestic security.

22. Those questions included:

- a. What religion is G.M.?
- b. Does G.M. believe in God?
- c. Does G.M. believe in Heaven?
- d. Does G.M. love America?
- e. Had any of G.M.'s relatives died?
- f. Does G.M. love his friends?
- g. Does G.M. love his school?

23. Dean also spoke to G.M. about her own spiritual beliefs and her thoughts on Heaven.

24. Against policy, Dean then used persistent questioning and an aggressive tone of voice to coerce G.M. into making a short, but ultimately false, statement that everything was not okay at home.

25. G.M. unequivocally states that he only said this to make Dean stop her persistent harassment of him.

26. G.M. was then returned to the classroom.

27. A short time later, Dean and Kasula ambushed G.M. on his way to lunch and ushered him away to a private, windowless room.

28. Sandrella was already present in this private, windowless room that, upon information and belief, is not typically used for student examinations.

29. Dean and Kasula, appearing angry, shut the door so that G.M. could not leave.

30. At this point G.M. was terrified and began to cry.

31. Other than Kasula, Dean, and Sandrella, no other District employees or members of the administration were present in the private, windowless room.

32. G.M. repeatedly asked to speak with his parents, however, his request was denied.

33. Against policy, G.M. was held against his will in this private, windowless room for a half hour or less.

34. During this time, and again in contravention to policy, Kasula and Sandrella then began physically examining G.M. against his will.

35. This physical examination included a strip search whereby G.M.'s pants were pulled down to his ankles and his shirt was pulled above his chest.

36. This physical examination also included the manhandling and probing of G.M.

37. Dean and Kasula then stated that they “were going to stay here until they heard what they wanted,” which G.M. understood to mean that he was supposed to admit that his parents physically abused him in order to make this horrible ordeal and examination stop.

38. After being held in the room for a prolonged period of time against his will, G.M., under duress and coercion and wanting to be freed, falsely told Dean and Kasula what they had told him they wanted to hear, which was that his mother disciplines him with a belt.

39. After the strip search, probing and military-style interrogation, G.M. was then released back to his classroom.

40. G.M. missed his lunch period while being held against his will in the windowless, private room.

41. At the end of the day, a school counselor asked G.M. if he was okay and if he felt safe to go home.

42. G.M. indicated that he did and was then bussed home to his parents’ house.

43. Neither Nail nor Amany were contacted by the Defendants about this incident or anything else related to the unfortunate events of that day.

44. Despite the principal not being present for the incident, G.M.’s Student Clinic Log for the day indicates that both the principal and the school counselor were present during the (strip) search and interrogation of G.M.

45. Instead, neither the principal nor the counselor were actually present during the incident, which is a direct violation of District policy.

46. The Student Clinic Log, a public record document, was created and falsified to intentionally mislead Plaintiffs and the public-at-large about what occurred on November 2 and the steps Defendants took to handle it.

47. G.M. returned to school the next week but was terrified to be in the presence of either Kasula or Dean.

48. Because of this, Nail and Amany repeatedly requested that the District separate G.M. from Dean and Kasula.

49. The District did not completely honor this request for nearly 5 months despite assurances otherwise.

50. Kasula treated G.M. poorly after the November 2 incident and put down his family in front of him.

51. Eventually, Nail called the police to intervene in the situation, as Defendants were further tormenting his son, which was causing G.M. significant emotional trauma.

52. This continued exposure to his tormentors worsened and exacerbated G.M.'s mental and physical issues that originated due to the initial November 2 strip search and related racially and religious based questioning.

53. G.M. was finally removed from Kasula's classroom in April 2019.

54. G.M. has been under the care of medial professionals related to the trauma of the November 2 incident and Defendants' subsequent related actions.
